ZAP! 7 THE ARTISTS WHO TOOK OVER MARYLAND PARKWAY
ON VIEW AT THE NEVADA HUMANITIES PROGRAM GALLERY

Las Vegas, NV – Nevada Humanities presents ZAP! 7 The Artists Who Took Over Maryland Parkway, August 6 through September 24, at the Nevada Humanities Program Gallery, located at 1017 S. First Street, #190 in downtown Las Vegas. The exhibition features artwork by the artists that were commissioned by Clark County Parks and Recreation to create public art on utility boxes along Maryland Parkway, from Desert Inn Road to Russell Road. The exhibition reflects the style and direction each ZAP! 7 artist is pursuing in their own body of work, outside of the parkway project.

The artists featured in the exhibition are: Abraham Abebe, Chris Bauder, Gig Depio, Shan Michael Evans, Jon Salvador Gascon, Adolfo Gonzalez, Tatiana Hantig, Su Limbert, Sush Machida, Melissa McGill, Krystal Ramirez, Lisa Rock, Sean Russell, Nanda Sharifpour, Lance Smith, Erin Stellmon, Holly Vaughn, Eric Vozzola, Valentin Yordanov, and the UNLV Public Art Class comprised of Amy Cordes, Shirin Mogimi, Jeff Sarmiento, Alfred Pulido, Amanda Telleria, Burim Kalaveshi, Michelle Cardin, Michelle Flilmore, Hazel Guandique, Vanessa Torres, Katie Short, Karla Lagunas, Jessica Alvarez, Fawn Douglas and James Morefield.

The ZAP! 7 public art project on Maryland Parkway is the latest in a series of Clark County's ZAP! public art projects that began in 2005. The ZAP! 7 artists each painted a group of utility boxes along Maryland Parkway for a total of approximately ninety-six (96) utility boxes. Major sponsors of the project include Nevada Energy, Las Vegas Valley Water District and the Traffic Division of Clark County Public Works.

“Engaging the neighborhoods and people that flow North and South along Maryland Parkway is a tremendous way to highlight local artists and bring their work out to the street for better awareness. We hope residents and visitors alike will view the works on display at Nevada Humanities and then venture down Maryland Parkway and all the ZAP! locations across the valley to discover more about this part of Nevada,” commented Christina Barr, Executive Director, Nevada Humanities.
